"GREAT THINGS COMING."

The Gazette does not often see its way clear to commend the utterances of its morning contemporary, but it can endorse without qualification or reservation the following article with the above heading from its columns:

The city republicans are holding committee meetings, or assembling in excited groups, putting up the bars here or setting the pins there, and perchance contributing of their great wealth towards the success of the republican ticket. Their flurry is genuine, but not a loop-hole has been discovered so far through which they can retreat. If they could only gather in the beloved votes and make a clean sweep, what mighty reforms they would bring about! Last year the sweep was pretty clean and the saloons were forced to pull down their blinds Sundays. With this for a pointer let us pause in expectation of what is to come. The whole earth earthy, in this town of course, depends on the saloon. Any reformer, be he crank or what not who leaves the saloons out of his reform reckonings, is no good. He is a fraud. It isn't material about more hefty business, so long as the everlasting saloon can be jerked up short, and made to furnish temporary satisfaction for over confident females or easily beguiled individuals of either sex, who think their duty done and life's fitful fever happily ended, when they can know that some politician has got up his reputation by obstructing in some way, the perpetual flow of whiskey. Probably these mighty reforms will not be developed until after the republicans get in, as it is not safe at present to peep above a whisper in some secluded room, before election. The people must be more patient.

The truths stated in these lines are palpable to the most wayfaring man. They are important facts earnestly stated and eloquently phrased. It is pleasant to see in an influential democratic organ conspicious moral sentiments so forcibly presented and energetically enforced. It is probable that some casual readers might detect in the sentences a spirit of levity and a flavor of ambiguity, but the zealous lover of humanity will find in them only an intense yearning for the public good and an unselfish devotion to the best interests of society. Even if it were possible to twist the language out of the perpendicular of moral rectitude, the Gazette prefers to give it the meaning which was obviously intended, and to believe that the language was designed to curb and restrain the evils of an untrammeled liquor traffic.

And this is the more gratifying because "we are on the eve of an important election" when ordinary prudence would lead mere politicians to be peculiarly circumspect in regard to any confession which might be made or any convictions which might be stated. When General Hancock enunciated that great discovery in political economy that "The tariff was a local issue" it was just before a national election, and there were suspicions that the discovery was announced for the purpose of producing an effect. When Mr. Cleveland promulgated the marvelous theory that "The Soil is Fixed" he stated a fact, which while it is of the earth earthy, is one which will never sink into a condition of innocuous desuetude, and he was accused of striving to placate the granger element. Hence these lines from our morning contemporary, bearing as they do, the ear marks of truth and soberness, and coming as they do, at a time when such concessions can only work injury to the democratic cause and thereby benefit the public at large, are welcomed with tenfold greater joy and thankfulness than they would receive on any other occasion.

It will not do to say that the language of the article may have a different signification from the one which is hereby generously accorded to it. Common honesty as well as common sense teaches that, if uncertainty exists in regard to the meaning of a statement, it is generous and charitable to give it the best interpretation. Literature is full of illustrations of poetry and prose which may apparently be meaningless, yet which, if studied acutely will bring forth the most abundant fruit in the way of beautiful ideas and noble sentiments. For instance, this quotation will illustrate the truth of this statement:

"'Tis midnight and the rising sun
Is setting in the west,
The pensive goose and playful cow
Gaily leap from bough to bough."

Or this morcean from Patience:

"And its O! to be wafted away
From this black Aceldama of sorrow
Where the dust of an earthy to-day
Is the earth of a dusty to-morrow."

Put on the rack of a rigid criticism these extracts might not be over meaningful but when interpreted in the light of benevolence, with a determined effort to extract some sense from the lines they could be made to furnish many comforting reflections and consoling thoughts, and the same generous treatment extended to the selection which is the text of this article, will make it yield an abundant harvest of human sentiments and moral ideas.

THE ELECTION TO-MORROW.

The republicans of Janesville have nominated exceptionally good men for the various city offices, and it is hoped that there will be sufficient enthusiasm in the party to make their election sure. A municipal election is just as important to every voter as a state or a national election, and therefore there should be just as much interest taken in one as the other. Because there is a mayor to elect, or a city clerk, aldermen or school commissioners, it should not be treated in such a manner as to make a light vote inevitable. Every voter should make it his duty to vote to-morrow, and if the republicans would consider the matter in the light of duty, they will win a victory worthy of their zeal.

In the selection of Mr. D. P. Smith for mayor, the republicans did wisely. He is an excellent business man, deserving of the fullest confidence of his republican friends, and his election would be a pledge that the office of mayor would be filled by a man who clearly understood his duty, and who would perform it fearlessly and wisely.

Of Mr. Fenton, for city clerk, and othe nominees, it goes without saying that there fitness and worth are unquestioned. There is no reason why they should receive not only the solid vote of their republican friends, but likewise command a full vote of the party.

It would be safe to wager that the senate has made Mr. Halstead a good deal more popular in Ohio than he ever was in his life. The people of Ohio believe senator Payne's seat was bought and they believe Halstead was righteous in his indignation at the senate's refusal to investigate.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Editors who hope to be nominated for office by the president, should never urge an investigation into the methods by which senators secure seats.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

The Sentinel does the senate an injustice by not stating the question fairly. No one will find fault with Mr. Halstead's righteous indignation at the senate's refusal to investigate the Payne election; and the Sentinel is out of the line of fairness when it suggests that "editors who hope to be nominated for office by the president, should never urge an investigation into the methods by which senators secure seats." It would have been better, and right to the point in question, had the Sentinel put the suggestion in this form: "Editors who hope to be nominated for office by the president, should never call United States senators, who are incorruptable public men, corruptionists and boodlers, nor advise people to burn or hang them in effigy at every crossroad."

The papers that criticise the senate harshly for rejecting Mr. Halstead, practically endorse the calling of Logan, Sawyer, Cullom, Ingalls, Miller, Cameron, and several others, thieves, and the abject servents of corruptions. The senate did just right in rejecting Murat Halstead. A bushwhacker in journalism should not represent the United States in any important capacity. There is a better way of critisising public men than calling them corruptionists and boodlers, and if an editor does not know of that way he should be made to learn it by experience. But Halstead's first offense was not in regard to the Payne investigation. Public men whose memory the people of this country will always cherish, have been stabbed repeatedly by Mr. Halstead. He has set himself up as a man whose opinions were above al others, and he who took issue with him on that point was written down as a fool, or a knave or a thief.

First Assistant Postmaster General Clarkson makes an explanation that is well worth reading concerning certain newspaper criticisms directed against his policy in the appointment of fourth-class postmasters. He says that practically all of the changes thus far have been made for other than political reasons. A large number of the appointments made during the last administration were notoriously bad; a considerable number had been found to be delinquent in their accounts. Other changes had been made in order to secure better locations for the offices, and in many cases appointments had been made with a view to the removal of the offices from the vicinity of saloons. In every case of removal there had been good and sufficient cause therefor. "Perhaps," he added, "it is not generally known that my predecessor, within the month or six weeks prior to March 4, made over 1,000 appointments of fourth class postmasters, for the purpose, apparently, of forcing them upon this administration. This course had never been pursued, to my knowledge, by any previous administration. During the last several weeks of President Arthur's term not a single fourth-class postmaster was appointed except in rare instances, where the exigencies of the service demanded it, and when Postmaster General Hatton resigned there were more than 3,000 resignations on file in his office. The commissions of the thousand appointees of my predecessor were, of course, withheld, and these vacancies with others are now being filled as rapidly as possible."

There is a division between the two republican papers in Milwaukee on the municipal judge question, the Sentinel supporting the republican candidating, Mr. Walliber, and the Evening Wisconsin, Judge Mallory, who has held the office since the time when the memory of man runneth not to the contrary.

Says a prominent clergyman: "I don't expect to so the millenium. I shall be quite satisfied if I live to see the day when there will be as many churches as grogshops in the country." But when that time comes it will be the millenium itself.

Our friends down in Chicago are going in for a big republican victory this spring. The heaviest guns are on their side.

If all so-called remedies have failed, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures.

We have sold Ely's Cream Balm about three years, and have recommended its use in more than a hundred special cases of catarrh. The unanimous answer to our inquiries is, "It's the best remedy that I have ever used." Our experience is, that where parties continued its use, it never fails to cure.—J. H. Montgomery & Co., druggists, Decorah, Iowa.

I have used Ely's Cream Balm for dry catarrh (to which Eastern persons are subject who come to live here.) It has proved a cure. B. F. M. Weeks, Denver, Col.

STORY OF THE WRECK.

PARTICULARS OF THE DISASTER AT SAMOA.

Sailors Drowned in Their Berths Like Rats—The Awful Death List—The Casualty Record.

LONDON, April 1.—Further particulars of the disastrous storm at Apia have just been received. The hurricane burst upon the harbor suddenly. The German man-of war Eber was the first vessel to drag her anchor. She became unmanageable and was driven helplessly on the reef which runs around the harbor. She struck, broadside on, at 6 o'clock in the morning. The shock caused her to lurch and bound back, and she sunk in a moment in deep water. Most of her men were under hatches and scarcely a soul of them escaped. The German war ship Adler was the next to succumb. She was lifted bodily by a huge wave and cast on her beam ends on the reef. A terrible struggle for life ensued among the officers and sailors aboard. Many plunged into the surf and struck out, some reaching the shore in safety. Others remained on the ship till the masts fell. Of these only two reached the shore. The captain of the Adler and several other officers were saved.

Meanwhile the United States ship Nipsic had been dragging her anchors and drifting toward the shore. The Captain, however, managed to keep control, and ran her on a sand bank. Boats were immediately lowered, and the whole company was saved with the exception of six men. These were drowned by the capsizing of a boat.

Wreck of the Vandalia.

The United States steamer Vandalia was carried before the gale right upon the reef. She struck with a terrible shock, hurling the Captain against a gatling gun and he fell stunned. Before he could recover a great wave swept the deck and washed him and others away into the sea. The vessel sunk fifty yards from the Nipsic, and several of the officers and men went down with her. Others perished while making desperate efforts to swim to the shore. Some of the ship's company tried to save themselves by clinging to the rigging, but heavy and swift-running waves dashed over them, and one by one they were swept away.

By this time night had set in. Many natives and Europeans had gathered on the shore, all anxious to render assistance to the unfortunate crews, but owing to the darkness they were wholly unable to be of service.

Soon after the Vandalia sunk the American war-ship Trenton broke from her anchorage and was driven upon the wreck of the Vandalia, whence she drifted to the shore. The bottom of the Trenton was completely stove and her hold was half full of water.

As morning broke the German man-of-war Olga, which had hitherto withstood the gale, although much battered by the heavy seas which constantly broke upon her, became unmanageable and was driven upon the rocks, where she lay in a tolerably favorable position.

The Fatalities.

The following is a record of the officers and men lost:

Eber—The captain and all other officers except one, and seventy-six men.

Vandalia—The captain, four officers and forty men.

Nipsic—Seven men.

Adler—Altogether fifteen persons.

Mataafa sent a number of his men to the assistance of the wrecked ships. They rendered splendid aid in trying to float the Olga.

BERLIN, April 1.—Emperor William was deeply moved by the news of the Samoan disaster. He immediately telephoned to Prince Henry and afterward conferred with Count Von Moltke, Prince Bismarck, and others.

KIMBERLY'S REPORT.

Official Account of the Disaster—The List of the Dead.

WASHINGTON, April 1. — The Navy Department has received a dispatch from Admiral Kimberly confirming the reports of the loss of American and German men-of-war at Samoa.

The dispatch states that three United States vessels, the Vandalia, Trenton and Nipsic, and three German war ships, the names of which are not given in the dispatch, were wrecked.

The Vandalia and Trenton were entirely wrecked and the Nipsic was driven on the beach, where she remains. The British war ship Calliope, which was also a Samoa, weathered the gale. The loss of life was thirty-nine enlisted men and four officers of the United States navy and 100 men from the German men-of-war. The names of the United States officers lost were:

CAPT. C. N. SHOONMAKER,
PAYMASTER F. H. ARMES,
CLERK ROCHE of the Vandalia,
LIEUT. SUTTON of the marine corps.

The navy department states that there are now no vessels on the Pacific coast ready to be sent to sea, and, in view of this fact, the officers and crews of the lost vessel will have to be sent home by the usual means of transportrtion. The gale in which the ships were wrecked occurred March 15.

The admiral's dispatch concludes as follows:

"All were saved from the Trenton. The Trenton and Vandalia crews are ashore, the Nipsic's on board. All the stores possible were saved. The German ships Adler and Eber are total losses. The Olga is beached, but may be saved. The German loss is ninety-six men. It is important to send 300 men home at once. Shall I charter a steamer? Can charter in Auckland. Lieut. Wilson will remain in Auckland to obey your orders. Further accounts by mail.

"KIMBERLY."

The dispatch also says that the following were lost from the Vandalia:

H. Baker	W. Brisbane
W. Brown	M. Cashenet
M. Cragin	B. F. Davis
T. C. Downey	M. Erickson
S. C. Gohring	A. Goldner
G. Gorman	Nathan B. Green
J. Griffin	E. M. Hammar
John Hanchett	C. H. Hawkins
W. Howat	Frank Jones
George Jordan	M. H. Joseph
John Keely	Thomas Kelly
N. Kinsella	C. P. Kratzer
Charles Kraus	F. Lessman
G. Merrage	A. Montgomery
Thomas Riley	H. P. Stalman
C. C. Stanford	John Sims
C. H. Wells	John Milford
Henry Wixted	Ahkow
Ahpeck	Pendang
Techor

The Nipsic lost seven men, namely:

George W. Callan	John Gill
Joshua Heap	Thomas Johnson
David Kelleher	Henry Pontsell
William Watson.

Secretary Tracy, on receipt of Admiral Kimberly's dispatch, sent out the following:

"LIEUT WILSN (FOR KIMBERLEY, CARE AMERICAN CONSUL) AUCKLAND. Take such steps with regard to Nipsic and other wrecks and sending men home as you may deem proper. Full power given you. Monongahela sailed for Apia Feb. 21."

Pensions to the Victims' Relations.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—No additional information of the Samoan disaster has been received at the navy department. The immediate relatives of those who lost their lives in the wreck will be entitled to pensions under the general law. The pension is $6 a month for a seaman's widow and $2 a month for each child under 16 years of age. In the case of widows of officers it is proportionately larger. Parents of the dead persons will have to prove that they were dependent upon their sons for support to entitle them to pensions. Congress will also probably pass a special act making reimbursement for the personal effects of the officers and men lost in the wreck. This was done in the case of the Huron, which went down on the Hatteras coast about fifteen years ago.

The Queen's Sympathy.

Queen Victoria cabled through Lord Salisbury to the British legation in this city to-day directing that her earnest sympathy be expressed to the President of the United States for the terrible naval misfortune at Samoa and the deplorable loss of life. Mr. Edwards, the British charge, accompanied by the Secretary of State, waited upon the President this afternoon and read to him the Queen's message. President Harrison expressed his warm appreciation and that of the whole people of this country for the Queen's considerate sympathy in the calamity that had overwhelmed our naval crews at Samoa. An informal reply to the Queen's message would be made, the President said, through the department of State.

Other Vessels Lost.

AUCKLAND, April 1.—Later advices received here regarding the hurricane which devastated Samoa and wrecked a number of German and American war ships say that the storm swept the islands on the 15th inst.

All the war ships attempted to put to sea, but only the English steamer Calliope succeeded. Merchant vessels suffered severely. The bark Peter Godeffrey, one other ship, and seven coasters were wrecked and four persons drowned. The Calliope sailed for Sydney. The Peter Godeffrey was a German bark. She had arrived at Samoa from Sydney.

FAT FOOD FOR FLAMES.

A Big Chicago Market Burned, Entailing a Loss of $75,000.

CHICAGO, April 1.—The four-story building on the northeast corner of Fulton and Green streets, occupied by Becker & Unrath as a wholesale and retail meat market, was totally destroyed by fire early this morning. The flames spread rapidly owing to the amount of grease and other inflammable material and enveloped the entire structure.

There was a large stock of meat on hand, valued at $50,000, and the building was worth $25,000. Both will prove a total loss. The insurance is about $50,000.

The rapid destruction of the building was due to an explosion of one of the lard tanks on the lower floor, which occurred soon after the fire started. The report was loud enough to awake people living a mile from the scene of the fire and it shattered the building and broke the glass in the neighboring houses.

FOURTFEN PERISH.

The Steamer Countess of Flanders in Collision with a Mail-Boat.

OSTEND, Belgium, April 1. —The steamer Countess of Flanders was struck at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon off Dunkirk by the Belgian mail-boat Princesse Henrietta.

The collision occurred during a dense fog. It was at first reported that the Countess of Flanders immediately sank. A later report, however, says that she is safe, but that her captain, her first lieutenant, nine of the crew, and three passengers were drowned. Prince Jerome Bonaparte was among the rescued.

Advices received here this afternoon regarding the collision state that the Countess of Flanders was cut in halves and that the fore part at once sank. The Princesse Henrietta took the after part in tow and started for this port, but had proceeded only a short distance when the portion of the wreck she was towing capsized and went down.

Whirled to Death.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., April 1.—George Abrahams, aged twenty years, was Sunday afternoon working about the machinery in the Michigan Buggy Company's works when his head caught between a rapid revolving wheel and belt. He was snatched from the floor and whirled about the wheel many times, striking the floor each time with such force as to break the boards. When rescued the man was dead, his head above the mouth being a shapeless mass.

Two Scouts Lost.

LIVINGSTONE, M. T., April 1.—It is almost certain that a Yellowstone park scout named Wilson and a soldier who accompanied him are lost. They started three weeks ago on a trip through the park to find trespassers. A relief party has started out under Capt. Harris to search for the absentees. Both the men were traveling on snow shoes.

Death in a Burning Building.

ST. JOHN, N. B., April 1.—Robert Lockie, an old, wealthy, and respected resident of Salt Springs, Kings county, was burned to death Friday morning. His house caught fire. He saved his family and then went back into the burning building to save some papers. He was never seen again alive. He was 64 years old.

Hurt in a Collision.

CLEVELAND, April 1.—Two freight trains on the New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio road near Jamestown, N. Y., Sunday. Both engines were wrecked and fifteen freight cars destroyed. Several trainmen were badly hurt. The wreck is said to have been due to a disobedience of orders.

One Killed and Fourteen Injured.

LONDON, April 1.—An excursion train from Southport for London, loaded with persons on their way to witness the Cambridge-Oxford boat race, was derailed at Peniston to-day. One person was killed and fourteen others were seriously hurt.

TO THE PUBLIC

I have just completed at great expense, one of the celebrated JACKSON DRY COLD STORAGE HOUSES. When I commenced the building I expected to use the entire space myself, but other business will take my time until July 1st. I have decided to rent this season one-half the capacity of the building, represented by 9 compartments, each capable of holding 250 cases of 30 dozen each. I am satisfied that an investment of $850—$100 storage charges and 7500 dozen eggs at 10 cents will pay at least 75 per cent. net on the investment. The building contains over 600 tons of ice, which will maintain a temperature of 35 to 37 degrees during the warmest weather. Below find testimonials from houses using the Jackson Dry Cold Storage:

Kent Co-operative Store Association.
Kent, Ohio, Oct. 17th, 1888.
THE JACKSON REFRIGERATOR Co., CHICAGO, ILL.
Gentlemen: Having had in constant use for the past two seasons one of your Cold Storage Houses, we wish to say that it has given entire satisfaction. Its preserving powers are perfect and in no instance have we met with loss of stock stored in it its most commendable features being the good circulation and entire freedom from moisture and dampness; no evidence of sweating having been perceived, the ceilings and side walls always being dry. We can cheerfully recommend your Cooling Room to any parties whose business requires the use of Cold Storage. Yours respectfully,
KENT CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION,
S. O. HATHWAY, Man.

Gentlemen: In reply to yours of the 13th, inst. will say that our Cold Storage building erected by you gives us the very best of satisfaction, both in the storing of of Eggs and Butter and also perishable goods of every description, and we can cartainly recommend it to any one needing such a building. It is the wonderment of every one in tnis section of the country.
Yours truly,

Office E. D. Tuttle, Buyer of Produce, Butter, Cheese, Eggs and Meats.
Hornellsville, N. Y., October 17th, 1888.
JACKSON REFRIGERATOR Co., CHICAGO, ILLS.
Dear Sirs: I have used one of your Refrigerators for two seasons and am well pleased with the results. I have kept eggs six months and taken them out in fine condition. Butter, if put in good condition, will keep a year. As to storing fruit, it is a perfect success. I now have evergreen sweet corn that has been in six weeks, and I think it is as good as when it was put in. Respectfully,
E. D. TUTTLE.

Marvin & Cammack, Proprietors of the Cresent Creameries, and Jobbers of Butter, Cheese and Eggs.
St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3d, 1888.
JACKSON REFRIGERATOR Co., CHICAGO, ILL.
Gentlemen: This is to certify that we have been using a 40 car load refrigerator store house, refrigerated on the Jackson plan for the past three years, with exceedingly satisfactory results. We have been able to carry eggs in this storage from May until January or February of the winter following in perfect condition. These eggs being packed in new white wood cases, with excelsor packing, and the cases are not moved or disturbed from May until such a time as the eggs are required for use in the fall or the winter. June butter has kept in this storage in perfect condition nearly a year, and we carried a barrel of potatoes in one of the rooms two years without any loss from decay, and at the end of this time the potatoes were as firm and perfect as when placed in the storage. The storage is easily managed and is fairly economical in its consumption of ice, and the ventilation and dryness seem perfect.
Very Respectfully, MARVIN & CAMMACK.

Elkland Creamery, B. H. Parkhurst, Proprietor.
Elkland, Pa., October 19th, 1888.
THE JACKSON REFRIGERATOR Co., CHICAGO, Ill.
Gentlemen: The Cold Storage Building I commenced last spring was completed and filled with ice in May. I use it in connection with my creamery for storing butter, and can show June butter apparently as fresh as when it was put in. I also put in a crate of eggs during the summer as an experiment; I examined them recently and found they were keeping perfectly. The room is dry and cold, and with only the warm air flues open, had no trouble to keep it at a temperature of 36 to 38 degrees during the warmest weather. Your plan is a success, and I do not know where it could be in any way improved. Yours truly,
B. H. PARKHURST.

HALSTEAD THROWN OUT.

THE SENATE REFUSES TO CONFIRM HIM.

New York Papers Comment on the Matter—Saturday's Presidential Appointments—Gossip.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The Senate met at noon Saturday. The Vice-President announced the appointment of Mr. Farwell as a member of the select committee on the transportation and sale of meat products in place of Mr. Cullom, excused at his own request.

The Senate then, on motion of Mr. Sherman, proceeded to the consideration of executive business.

The Senate Saturday afternoon voted on Mr. Sherman's motion to reconsider the action by which Editor Halstead's nomination was rejected. The motion to reconsider was lost, the vote being 19 yeas to 25 nays, so the nomination stands rejected.

HALSTEAD AND THE SENATE.

Newspapers of New York Commenting on the Matter.

NEW YORK, April 1.—The World in commenting on the treatment which Mr. Halstead has received at the hands of the Senate, says:

"It is telegraphed from Washington that one of the points which Senators have against Mr. Halstead is that he has spoken disrespectfully of the Senate as a body, and the Senate has established a precedent that editors so offending shall not be confirmed.

"If there be any truth in this the President should, by repeated and continued nominations of outspoken editors, defend the freedom of the press. The Senate has a perfect right to refuse to confirm the nomination of Mr. Halstead as Minister to Germany if it considers him an unfit man for the place. It has no right to reject him because he has exercised his natural and constitutional right to criticize the body, or even to speak disrespectfully of it. There is no sacred Sanhedrin in this glorious country with the inherited privilege of exemption from criticism. Mr. Halstead may have indulged in unnecessary personal reflections in his comment upon that scandalous refusal; but his characterization of the action of the Senate was none too severe.

If the Senate shall array itself against the freedom of the press it will enter upon a hopeless contest. It can not muzzle the press by withholding offices from editors. And it will invite a plainer speech than its members may relish."

The Post says: "It would be a fortunate thing for Mr. Halstead in the long run if he should be rejected by the Senate, and especially if he should be rejected by his boldness. This is the brighest spot in Mr. Halstead's editorial career in recent years. If he is made a martyr for it he will receive a martyr's crown and we shall help to bestow it upon him."

MORE RAIN IS NEEDED.

Less Than the Normal Amount of Moisture in the Winter-Wheat Belt.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Following is the crop bulletin issued by the signal office the past week: The rainfall has been earlier than usual along the Atlantic coast from New York to Florida, generally along the gulf coast and from Texas northward to Dakota. Over 75 per cent of the normal rainfall is noted in the middle Atlantic States and over the greater portion of the South Atlantic and Gulf States and New England. In central portion of the cotton region and over the greater portion of the winter-wheat region east of the Mississippi the seasonal rainfall has been from 50 to 75 per cent of the normal, except in eastern Indiana, western Ohio, and extreme southern portion of Michigan, where the rainfall has been less than half the usual amount. Less than half of the normal rainfall has occurred in northern California, Oregon, and Washington Territory, while about 75 per cent is reported in central California, and from 80 to 95 per cent in southern California. In the spring wheat regions of Minnesota and Dakota, and in the winter wheat sections of the central valleys the weather during the week was generally favorable for growing crops and farm work, except in portions of Indiana, Michigan and Ohio, where the growth of crops was retarded by drought. Rains which occurred in Kentucky, Tennessee, and Arkansas improve the crop conditions in those States. In the Gulf States the general effect of the weather for the week was favorable for the planting of corn, cane, and rice, which is about completed, and for cotton planting, which is in progress.

CHAIRMAN HUSTON'S PLACE.

The Indiana Man Announces That He Will Be Treasurer of the United States.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—John C. New, recently confirmed as Consul-General to London, left for Indianapolis last night in company with a crowd of Indiana men, including J. N. Huston, Robert Sears, ex-Mayor Roberts of Lawrenceburg, Capt. Horace McKay, Maj. Moses MacLain, William Patterson, and W. O. McKinney. Before leaving they called on the President and after the interview Mr. Huston confidectially informed a friend that that his name would be sent to the Senate early this week for confirmation as treasurer of the United States. Mr. New corroborated the assertion. Mr. McKinney went home with a heavy heart. He was candidate for district superintendent of railway mail service and was indorsed not only by the entire delegations of Indiana and Ohio but by President Harrison himself. He felt absolutely certain of getting the appointment, but was knocked out by the rule that reinstated the old superintendents that were displaced by Cleveland. Mr. New will return to the capital in about two weeks and then sail for England.

MAJOR RENO IS DEAD.

End of a Soldier Who Was Severely Criticised at One Time.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Major Marcus A. Reno, who commanded a portion of Custer's regiment and was severely criticised for his failure to come to Custer's relief and prevent the massacre by the Indians, died at a hospital here Saturday from the effects of a surgical operation. Major Reno was court-martialed and dismissed from the service April 1, 1880. His offense was conduct unbecoming an officer.

Presidential Appointments.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The President sent the following nominations to the Senate Saturday:

John T. Abbot of New Hampshire, to be Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States to the Republic of Colombia.

Edwin H. Terrill of Texas, to be Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States to Belgium.

To be delegates to the conference between the United States of America and the republics of Mexico, Central and South America, Hayti, San Domingo, and the Empire of Brazil to be held in Washington in 1889: John B. Henderson of Missouri, Cornelius N. Bliss of New York, William Pickney Whyte of Maryland, Clement Studebaker of Indiana, T. Jefferson Coolidge of Massachusetts, William Henry Trescott of South Carolina, Andrew Carnegie of Pennsylvania, John R. G. Pitkin of Louisiana, Morris M. Estee of California, J. H. Hanson of Georgia.

FOUGHT EIGHTY ROUNDS.

Weir and Murphy in a Terrific Battle at Kouts, Ind.

CHICAGO, April 1.—The Weir-Murphy prize-fight for the weather-weight championship of the world was fought Sunday morning at Kouts, Ind., a station on the Chicago & Atlantic railroad, fifty-five miles from Chicago. The scene of the battle was the biggest hall in town. The ring was a small one. Possibly sixteen feet square were its dimensions.

Ike O'Neal Weir has been considered invincible. Frank Murphy is the champion of England. Both men proved themselves wonders. For twenty minutes the battle was a murderous one; its like was never seen in America. Then both men, badly punished, quit fighting, and only an occasional rally marked the contest.

Billy Myer added to his reputation that of being the best of referees. At the end of eighty rounds he ordered the men to desist, and cautioned them to be ready to meet again on Tuesday next. No other decision was possible under the circumstances.

Both men were in bad shape by the time they had returned to Chicago. The "Spider's" hands are completely gone, he not being able to lift a glass of water to his lips, and his left jaw is thought to be broken. His face shows slight marks of punishment, although his hand is very sore.

Murphy's face is so badly swollen that his most intimate friend would scarcely know him. Murphy lost a great deal of blood. His left arm is nearly useless and two ribs are thought to be fractured.

Coming in on the train the pugilists were on the best of terms and each declared himself unwilling to go further with the battle, but after being told that their backers said "they must fight on" signified an intention of getting inside the ropes, no matter what their conditiou.

JOE LANNON WHIPPED.

Jack Ashton Knocks Him Out in the Nineteenth Round.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 1.—Jack Ashton of this city and Joe Lannon of Boston settled their three years' rivalry Saturday morning in a prize fight for $1,000. Nearly 500 persons saw the fight, paying $10 each for the privilege.

Lannon was knocked out in the nineteenth round and the fight and purse was awarded to Ashton.

The fight took place in an old town hall at Stillwater, a small place north of this city. The crowd was piloted across the country about two miles and some of them, including John L. Sullivan and Lannon, were lost in the darkness and wandered off into the swamp, and were found an hour later almost a mile from the scene of the fight.

Ashton was weighed in at 182 pounds and Lannon at 193, and both were in excellent condition. Ashton had the best of the fighting throughout, Lannon doing little, and often failing to follow up his advantage. Neither man brought blood on his opponent, and the fight was decided a knockout, pure and simple. Ashton's hands showed no effects of the pounding he gave Lannon.

CAMBRIDGE THE WINNER.

Oxford Beaten by Four Lengths in the Annual Boat Race.

LONDON, April 1.—The annual boat race between crews representing the Cambridge and Oxford universaties was rowed on the Thames Satuday. The course was from Putney to Mortlake, 4 miles and 2 furlongs in length. The Cambridge crew won by four lengths.

Large crowds witnessed the race. A light breeze was blowing but the water was smooth. There was a tendency to fog. Cambriage at once took the lead, and at Hammersmith bridge, one and three-quarter miles from the starting point, was a length ahead. Both crews were rowing well. At this time a heavy rain began falling. The Oxford crew shortly afterward became confused and steered badly, splashing a little and almost collapsing. Near Barnes bridge, five furlongs from the finish, Oxford made a final spurt, but failed to reach the Cambridge boat, the crew of which, rowing well, won by four lengths.

JOHN BRIGHT'S FUNERAL.

It Takes Place at Rochdale—An Immense Crowd in Attendance.

LONDON, April 1.—The funeral of John Bright took place at Rochdale Saturday. The ceremonies were simple but the attendance was very large. The remains in accordance with the wishes of the deceased were deposited in Quaker cemetery. While the funeral was in progress at Rochdale, solemn services was held in Westminister Abbey in memory of the great orator.

A Bomb in Church.

ROME April 1.—While Father Agosrino was preaching in the St. Carlo church Sunday a bomb was exploded. There was great excitement in the congregation and several women fainted, but the preacher continued his sermon.

DEAD, AGED 114 YEARS.

The Oldest Man on Record Dies at a Charitable Institution.

CHICAGO, April 1.—The oldest man on record is dead. He was Daniel Burke, and, according to the certificate of death returned to Dr. Tomlinson, registrar of vital statistics Saturday morning, he was 114 years of age. The old man, who has been a resident of Illinois thirty-five years, died at the Little Sisters of the Poor, corner of Sheffield and Fullerton avenues, of pneumonia, having been sick for six weeks. The centenarian was under the care of Dr. D. G. Moore of 643 North Hoyne avenue, and the remains were taken to Lancaster, Ill., for burial.

Mexican Bandits to Be Punished.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 1.—A special to the American from San Antonio, Texas, says: The dispatch sent the American of the intended capture of Mr. Garrett and party by Mexican bandits was telegraphed back to the City of Mexico and published in the Official Gazette. As soon as the Mexican Department of Justice learned of the plot a force of cavalry was immediately ordered to proceed to the infested district to act in conjunction with the forces recently sent into the mining district, and capture, if possible, the leaders in the nefarious scheme.

Why Women Fade.
Women lose their beauty; because colds undermine their life. Dr. Acker's English Remedy for consumption is an absolute cure for colds. Prentice & Evenson, druggists.

A Woman's Discovery.
"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for several years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. O. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. —Get a trial bottle free at F. Sherer & Co.'s drug store.

Another Great Artist.

"What a wonderful painter Rubens was!" remarked Merritt at the art gallery.

"Yes," assented Cora. "It is said of him that he could change a laughing face into a sad one by a single stroke."

"Why," spoke up little Johnnie, in disgust, "my school-teacher can do that."

Couldn't Fool the Old Man.

Old man (at the head of the stairs at 2:30 a. m.)—Susie, what time is it?

Susie (with second look at Reginald, who looses his grip)—A few minutes past ten, papa.

Old Man—Don't forget to start the clock again when you go to bed.

A Way Out.

Anglomaniac—That's the way it goes. If we hunt foxes, folks say we're cruel; if we hunt anise-seed bags, folks laugh at us. What can we hunt without exciting indignation or ridicule?

Small Boy—Rats!

How Doctors Conquer Death.
Dr. Walter K. Hammond says: "After a long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from coughs, pneumonia and consumption, might be avoided if Dr. Acker's English Remedy for consumption were only used in time." This wonderful remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by Prentice & Evenson, druggists.

THE CRIMINAL RECORD.

A NOTARY PUBLIC'S BETRAYAL OF HIS TRUST.

A House Almost Demolished by a Dynamite Bomb—Tried to Kill His Family—Other Crimes.

NEW ORLEANS, April 1.—Four days ago occurred the death of Mr. Oscar Drouett, a notary public. The deceased had stood high in social and business circles, and not the slightest suspicion was directed against his financial operations. When, however, it came to settling up the estate yesterday it was discovered that for twenty years he had been carrying on an extensive system of forgery, through which he had swindled various persons out of more than $75,000.

Mr. Drouett's method was simple but sure. When a person came to him to have a mortgage note on property made out Drouett made two copies of the note, giving one to the owner of the property, while the second note, to which the name of the recorder of mortgages was forged, was sold to some capitalists desiring to invest money. When the note came due Drouett pretended that the person to whom the money was loaned wanted it continued, and always got a continuance by paying some of the interest. Drouett carried on the business in this way for twenty years, no one apparently entertaining the slightest suspicion against him. It was only when his death was announced and the holders of the forged mortgages and notes came forward with their claims that his crime was discovered.

WICKED WORK.

A House Occupied by Non-Union Men Almost Demolished by Dynamite.

HOLBROOK, Mass., April 1.—At 11:30 last evening a terrible explosion occurred in a house in this town, occupied among others, by ten non-union Swedes, employed at the shoe factory of Edmund White since the last strike. The house is a large substantial one, of brick, about a mile from Brocktown, owned by L. A. Sleeper and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Johnson, who board some of the Swedes employed at this factory. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson occupy the room directly over the basement dining room, where the explosion took place. They were first awakened by a sound of breaking glass, but they did not rise. In about two minutes a terrific explosion took place, which completely demolished the ceiling and window glass and blew the furniture to pieces. No one was injured, which was wonderful. The damage was terrible. The occupants of the house immediately took shelter with Sheriff White, near by. Everything seems to prove that a dynamite bomb was thrown through the cellar window, exploding almost immediately. The town is in a fever of excitement.

TRIED TO KILL HIS FAMILY.

A Georgia Tinner Fatally Wounds His Wife and Commits Suicide.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 1.—James C. Calhonn, a tinner, prominent in business, religious and social circles at Dalton, Ga., attempted to kill his family and himself Saturday. He procured a hatchet and a bottle of muriatic acid and zinc. He attacked his wife by catching her by the throat and striking her three blows about the head and shoulders with the hatchet. He then struck his invalid daughter, and cut off her ear. He started for his little boy, who escaped. Taking a knife he cut his own throat and swallowed an ounce and a half of the muriatic acid and zinc. Calhoun and his wife will probably die. The daughter will recover. It is supposed that he had suddenly gone insane over financial matters.

Suicide of a Railroad Man.

ST. LOUIS, April 1.—Asa W. Kellogg, general agent of the Southern Pacific railway at Cincinnati, committed suicide at the Southern hotel Saturday night. He retired at 2 o'clock and left orders to be called at a late hour in the morning. He failed to respond to the repeated calls, and the door of his room was forced open. Mr. Kellogg lay dead on the bed and an empty laudanum phial and a note told the rest of the story. The note read: "I have fought the battle and lost. Bury me and say as little about me as possible. A fool is better soon forgotten." Kellogg was 41 years of age and was widely known among railroad men in the West. The motive for his act is not known.

Sandbagged and Robbed.

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., April 1.—James M. Billmyer was attacked by robbers at his residence near Vanclevesville Saturday and suffered the most brutal treatment. About 9 o'clock three men knocked at the door and asked for something to eat. As Billmyer turned to get some food one of the three hit him on the head with a sandbag and knocked him senseless. He was then robbed and one of the trio left to guard him while the house was searched. By the time this was concluded Billmyer had revived. He refused to tell where his money was and was beaten and kicked in a terrible manner. He is in a serious condition.

Killed an Alleged Detective.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 1.—Joseph Smith, a negro desective, who, it is reported, was trying to work up evidence against certain parties at Plummerville in relation to the Clayton murder, was shot and killed last night by a white man named Dan Richmond. The killing has caused another sensation. Richmond claims Smith attempted to draw a revolver on him. The killing occurred a mile from town.

Reported Capture of Train Robbers.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 1.—Two of the men implicated in the Atlantic & Pacific train robbery at Canon Diablo, Ari. Ter., about ten days ago, are supposed to have been captured. At least one man has been cornered eighty-five miles north of Winslow, Ari. Ter., and another eighty-six miles south. Reinforcements have been asked for by the officers.

KIDNAPED AND DESERTED.

Story of a 14-Year-Old Chicago Boy Told to the Pittsburg Police.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 1.—Arthur Kruschinsky, the 14-year-old boy heir to a fortune of $80,000, who disappeared from Chicago last week and was believed to have been kidnaped, is in the station house here. He was picked up on the street by a policeman late Saturday night, to whom he said he had been deserted by a man who had brought him from Chicago. He said that on Tuesday last, when in the Union stockyards, he was induced to leave home by a man who represented himself as a drover. The boy says that his father is a carpenter, and that he abused him, and he cried bitterly when he was informed that he would be sent home. Inspector McKelvey telegraphed to Chicago to-day, but to 12 o'clock had received no reply.

The Verdict Unanimous.
W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of rheumatism of ten years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my twenty years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood Only a half dollar a bottle at F. TO MONTANA, OREGON AND WASHINGTON.
If you are going west bear in mind the following facts: The Northern Pacific Railroad owns and operates 987 miles, or 57 per cent. of the entire railroad mileage of Montana; spans the territory with its main lines from east to west; is the short line to Helena; the only Pullman and dining car line to Butte, and is the only line that reaches Miles City, Billings, Bozeman, Missoula, the Yellowstone National Park and, in fact, nine-tenths of the cities and points of interest in the territory.
The Northern Pacific owns and operates 621 miles or 56 per cent of the railroad mileage of Washington, its main line extending from the Idaho line via Spokane Falls, Cheney, Sprague Yakima and Ellensburg, through the center of the territory to Tacoma and Seattle and from Tacom to Portland. No other transcontinental through rail line reaches any portion of Washington Territory. Ten days stop over privileges are given on Northern Pacific second class tickets at Spokane Falls and all points west, thus affording intending settlers an excellent opportunity to see the entire territory without incurring the expense of paping local fares from point to point.
The Northern Pacific is the shortest route from St. Paul to Tacoma by 207 miles; to Seattle by 177 miles, and to Portland by 324 miles—time correspondingly shorter, varying from one to two days, according to destination. No other line from St. Paul or Minneapolis runs through passenger cars of any kind into Idaho, Oregon or Washington.
In addition to being the only rail lin to Spokane Falls, Tacoma and Seattle, the orthern Pacific reaches all the principal points in Northern Minnesota and Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington. Bear in mind that the Northern Pacific and Shasta line is the scenic route to all points in California.
Send for illustrated pamphlets, maps, and books giving you valuable information in reference to the country traversed by this great line from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Ashlank to Portland, Oregon, and Tacoma and Seattle, Washington, Territory, and enclose stamps for the new 1889 Rand McNally County map of Washington Territory, printed in colors. The Old Doctors

Drew blood, modern doctors cleanse it; hence the increased demand for Alteratives. It is now well known that most diseases are due, not to over-abundance, but to impurity, of the Blood; and it is equally well attested that no blood medicine is so efficacious as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

"One of my children had a large sore break out on the leg. We applied simple remedies, for a while, thinking the sore would shortly heal. But it grew worse. We sought medical advice, and were told that an alterative medicine was necessary. Ayer's Sarsaparilla being above all others, we used it with marvelous results. The sore healed and health and strength rapidly returned." —J. J. Armstrong, Weimar, Texas.

"I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla to be an admirable remedy for the cure of blood diseases. I prescribe it, and it does the work every time."—E. L. Pater, M. D., Manhattan, Kansas.

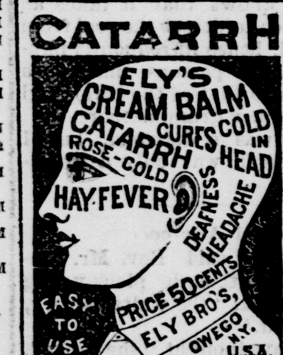

"We have sold Ayer's Sarsaparilla here for over thirty years and always recommend it when asked to name the best blood-purifier."—W. T. McLean, Druggist, Augusta, Ohio.

"Ayer's medicines continue to be the standard remedies in spite of all competition."—T. W. Richmond, Bear Lake, Mich.

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON.

THE EMINENT DIVINE AT KANSAS CITY.

He Preaches on "Wonders of Disaster and Blessing," Predicting the Near Coming of Christ.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 1.—The Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage preached a sermon here yesterday on "Wonders of Disaster and Blessing," his text being, "I will show wonders in the heavens and in the earth." Joel ii., 30. He said:

Dr. Cumming—great and good man—would have told us the exact time of the fulfillment of this prophecy. As I stepped into his study in London on my arrival from Paris just after the French had surrendered at Sedan, the good doctor said to me: "It is just as I told you about France; people laughed at me because I talked about the seven horns and the vials, but I foresaw all this from the Book of Daniel and the Book of Revelation." Not taking any such responsibility in the interpretation of the passages I simply assert that there are in it suggestions of many things in our time.

Our eyes dilate and our heart quickens its pulsations as we read of events in the third century, the sixth century, the eigth century, the fourteenth century, but there are more far-reaching events crowded into the nineteenth century than into any other, and the last quarter bids fair to eclipse the preceding three-quarters. We read in the daily newspapers of events announced in one paragraph and without any special emphasis—of events which a Herodotus, a Josephus, a Xenophon, a Gibbon would have taken whole chapters or whole volumes to elaborate. Looking out upon our time we must cry out in the words of the text: "Wonders in the heavens and in the earth."

I propose to show you that the time in which we live is wonderful for disaster and wonderful for blessing, for there must be lights and shades in this picture as in all others. Need I say this day that our time is wonderful for disaster? Our world has had a rough time since by the hand of God it was bowled out into space. It is an epileptic earth; convulsion after convulsion; frosts pounding it with sledge-hammer of iceberg and fires melting it with furnaces seven hundred times heated. It is a wonder to me it has lasted so long. Meteors shoot by on this side and graze it, and meteors shoot by on the other side and graze it, none of them slowing up for safety. Whole fleets and navies and argosies and flotillas of worlds sweep all about us. Our earth is like a fishing smack off the banks of Newfoundland, while the Etruria and Germanic and the Arizona and the City of New York rush by. Besides that our world has by sin been damaged in its internal machinery and ever and anon the furnaces have burst and the walking beams of the mountain have broken, and the islands have shipped a sea, and the great hulk of the world has been jarred with accidents that ever and anon threatened immediate demolition. But it seems to us if our century were especially characterized by disaster, volcanic, cyclonic, epidemic. I say volcanic, because an earthquake is only a volcano hushed up. When Stromboli and Cotopaxi and Vesuvius stop breathing let the foundations of the earth beware. Seven thousand earthquakes in two centuries recorded in the catalogue of the British association. Trajan, the Emperor, goes to ancient Antioch, and amid the splendors of his reception is met by an earthquake that nearly destroys the Emperor's life. Lisbon, fair and beautiful at 1 o'clock on the 1st of November, 1755, in six minutes 60,000 people perished, and Voltaire writes of them: "For that region it was the last judgment, nothing wanting but a trumpet!" Europe and America feeling the throb; 1,500 chimneys in Boston partly or fully destroyed.

But the disasters of other centuries have had their counterpart in our own. In 1812 Caraccas was caught in the grip of the earthquake; in 1822, in Chili, 100,000 square miles of land by volcanic force upheaved to four and seven feet of permanent elevation; in 1854 Japan felt the geological agony; Naples shaken in 1857; Mexico in 1858; Medosa, the capital of the Argentine Republic, 1861; Manilla terrorized in 1863; the Hawaiian islands by such force uplifted and let down in 1871; Nevada shaken in 1871; Antioch in 1872; California in 1872; San Salvador in 1873; while in 1883 what subterranean excitement! Ischia, an island of the Mediterranean, a beautiful Italian watering place, vineyard-clad, surrounded by all natual charm and historical reminiscence; yonder Capri, the summer resort of the Roman Emperors; yonder Napales, the paradise of art—this beautiful island suddenly toppled into the trough of the earth, 8,000 merry-makers perishing, and some of them so far down beneath the reach of human obsequies that it may be said of many a one of them as it was said of Moses, "The Lord buried him." Italy weeping, all Europe weeping, all Christendom weeping where there were hearts to sympathize and Christians to pray. But while the nations were measuring that magnitude of disaster, measuring it not with golden rod like that with which the angel measured heaven, but with the black rule of death. Java, of the Indian archipelago, the most fertile island of all the earth, is caught in the grip of the earthquake, and mountain after mountain goes down, and city after city, until that island, which produces the healthiest beverage of all the world, has produced the ghastliest accident of the century. One hundred thousand people dying, dying, dead, dead.

But look at the disasters cyclonic. At the mouth of the Ganges are three islands—the Hattiah, the Sundeep, and the Dakin Shabazpore. In the midnight of October, 1877, on all those three islands the cry was: "The waters, the waters!" A cyclone arose and rolled the sea over those three islands, and of a population of 340,000 215,000 were drowned. Only those saved who had climbed to the top of the highest trees. Did you ever see a cyclone? No? Then I pray God you may never see one. I saw one on the ocean and it swept us 800 miles back from our course and for thirty-six hours during the cyclone and after it we expected every moment to go to the bottom. They told us before we retired at 9 o'clock that the barometer had fallen, but at 11 o'clock at night we were awakened with the shock of the waves. All the lights out! Crash! went all the life-boats. Waters rushing through the skylight down into the cabin and down on the furnaces until they hissed and smoked in the deluge. Seven hundred people praying, blaspheming, shrieking. Our great ship poised a moment on the top of a mountain of phosphorescent fire and then plunged down, down, down, until it seemed as if she never would again be righted. Ah! you never want to see a cyclone at sea. But I was in Minnesota where there was one of those cyclones on land that swept the city of Rochester from its foundations and took dwelling-houses, barns, men, women, children, horses, and cattle and tossed them into indiscriminate ruin, and lifted a rail train and dashed it down, a mightier hand than that of the engineer on the air-brake. Cyclone in Kansas, cyclone in Missouri, cyclone in Wisconsin, cyclone in Illinois, cyclone in Iowa. Satan, prince of the power of the air, never made such cyclonic disturbances as he has in our day. And am I not right in saying that one of the characteristics of the time in which we live is disatser cyclonic?

But look at the disasters oceanic. Shall I call the roll of the dead shipping? Ye monsters of the deep, answer when I call your names. Ville de Havre, the Schiller, City of Boston, the Melville, the President, the Cimbria. But why should I go on calling the roll when none of them answer, and the roll is as long as the white scroll of the Atlantic surf at Cape Hatteras breakers? If the oceanic cables could report all the scattered life and all the bleached bones that they rub against in the depths of the ocean what a message of pathos and tragedy for both beaches! In one storm eighty fishermen perished off the coast of Newfoundland and whole fleets of them off the coast of England. God help the poor fellows at sea and give high seats in heaven to the Grace Darlings and the Ida Lewises and lifeboat men hovering around Goodwin's Sands and the Skerries. The sea, owning three-fourths of the earth, proposes to capture the other fourth and is bombarding the land all around the earth. The moving of our hotels at Brighton Beach backward 100 yards from where they once stood, a type of what is going on all around the world and on every coast. The Dead sea rolls to-day where ancient cities stood. Pillars of temples that stood on hills geologists now find three-quarters under the water or altogether submerged. The sea, having wrecked so many merchantmen and flotillas, wants to wreck the continents and hence disasters oceanic.

Look at the disasters epidemic. I speak not of the plague in the fourth century that ravaged Europe, and in Moscow and the Neapolitan dominions and Marseilles wrought such terror in the eighteenth century, but I look at the yellow fevers, and the choleras, and the diphtherias, and the scarlet fevers, and the typhoids of our own time. Hear the wailing of Memphis, and Shreveport, and New Orleans, and Jacksonville of the last few decades. From Hurdwar, India, where every twelfth year 3,000,000 devotees congregate, the caravans brought the cholera, and that one disease slew 18,000 in eighteen days in Bossorah. Twelve thousand in one summer slain by it in India, and 25,000 in Egypt. Disasters epidemic. Some of the finest monuments in Greenwood and Laurel Hill and Mount Auburn are to doctors who lost their life battling with southern epidemic.

But now I turn the leaf in my subject and I plant the white lilies and the palm trees amid the night shade and the myrtle. This age no more characterized by wonders of disaster than by wonders of blessing. Blessings of longevity, the average of human life rapidly increasing. Forty years now worth 400 years once. Now I can travel from Manitoba to New York in three days and three nights. In other times it would have taken three months. In other words, three days now are worth three months of other days. The average of human life practically greater now than when Noah lived his 950 years and Methusaleh lived his 966 years. Blessings of intelligence: The Salmon P. Chases and the Abraham Lincolns and the Henry Wilsons of the coming time will not have to learn to read by pine knot torches or seated on shoemakers' bench, nor the Fergusons have to study astronomy while watching the cattle. Knowledge rolls its tides along every poor man's door, and his children may go down and bathe in them. If ten philosophers of the last century were called up to recite in a class with our boys at the Polytechnic, or our girls at the Packer, those old philosophers would be sent down to the foot of the class because they failed to answer the questions! Free libraries in all the important towns and cities of the land. Historical alcoves and poetical shelves and magazine tables for all that desire to walk through them or sit down at them. Blessings of quick information. Newspapers falling all around us thick as leaves in a September equinoctial. News three days old, rancid and stale. We see the whole world twice a day—through the newspaper at the breakfast table, and through the newspaper at the tea table, with an "extra" here and there between.

Blessing of gospel proclamation: Do you not know that nearly all the missionary societies have been born in this century? And nearly all the Bible societies and nearly all the great philanthropic movements? A secretary of one of the demonstrations said to me to me the other day in Dakota: "You were wrong when you said our denomination averaged a new church every day of the year; they established nine in one week, so you are far within the truth." A clergyman of our own denomination said: "I have just been out establishing five mission stations." I tell you Christianity is on the march while infidelity is thus dwindling into imbecility. While infidelity is thus dwindling and dropping down into imbecility and indecency the the wheel of Christianity is making a thousand revolutions a minute. All the copies of Shakespeare and Tennyson and Disraeli and of any ten of the most popular writers of the day are less in number than the copies of the Bible going out from our printing presses. A few years ago, in six weeks, more than 2,000,000 copies of the New Testament were purchashed, not given away, but purchased because the world will have it.

More Christian men in high official position to-day in Great Britain and in the United States than ever before. Stop that falsehood going through the newspapers—I have seen it in twenty—that the judges of the Supreme court of the United States are all infidels except one. By personal acquaintance I know three of them to be old-fashioned evangelical Christians, sitting at the holy sacrament of our Lord Jesus Christ, and I suppose that the majority of them are staunch believers in our Christian religion. And then hear the dying words of Judge Black, a man who had been Attorney-General of the United States and who had been Secretary of the United States—no stronger lawyer of the century than Judge Black—dying, his aged wife kneeling by his side and he uttering that sublime and tender prayer: "O Lord God, from whom I derived my existence and in whom I have always trusted, take my spirit to thyself and let thy richest blessing come down upon my Mary." The most popular book to-day is the Bible and the mightiest institution is the church, and the greatest name among the nations and more honored than any other is the name of Jesus.

Wonders of selt-sacrifice: A clergyman told me in the Northwest that for six years he was a missionary at the extreme north, living 400 miles from a postoffice, and sometimes he slept out of doors in winter, the thermometer 60 and 65 degrees below zero, wrapped in rabbit skins woven together. I said, "Is it possible? You do not mean 60 and 65 degrees below zero? He said: "I do, and I was happy." All for Christ. Where is there another being that will rally such enthusiasm? Mothers sewing their fingers off to educate their boys for the gospel ministry. For nine years no luxury on the table until the course through grammar school and college and theological seminary be completed. Poor widow putting her mite into the Lord's treasury, the face of Emperor or President impressed upon the coin not so conspicuous as the blood with which she earned it. Millions of good men and women, but more women than men, to whom Christ is everything. Christ first and Christ last and Christ forever.

Why, this age is not so characterized by invention and scientific exploration as it is by gospel proclamation. You can get no idea of it unless you ring all the church bells in one chime, and sound all the organs in one diapason, and gather all the congregations of Christendom in one gloria in excelsis. Mighty camp-meetings. Mighty Ocean Groves. Mighty Chautauquas. Mighty conventions of Christian workers. I think before long the best investments will not be in railroad stock or Western Union, but in trumpets and cymbals and festal decorations, for we are on the eve of victories wide and world uplifting. There may be many years of hard work yet before the consummation, but the signs are to me so encouraging that I would not be unbelieving if I saw the wing of the apocalyptic angel spread for its last triumphal flight in this day's sunset, or if to-morrow morning the ocean cables should thrill us with the news that Christ the Lord had alighted on Mount Olivet or Mount Calvary to proclaim universal dominion.

O you dead churches, wake up! Throw back the shutters of stiff ecclesiasticism and let the light of the spring morning come in. Morning for the land. Morning for the sea. Morning of emancipation. Morning of light and love and peace. Morning of a day in which there shall be no chains to break, no sorrows to assuage, no despotism to shatter, no woes to compassionate. O Christ, descend! Scarred temple, take the crown! Bruised hand, take the scepter! Wounded foot, step the throne! "Thine is the kingdom."

These things I say because I want you to be alert. I want you to be watching all these wonders unrolling from the heavens and the earth. God has classified them, wheather calamitious or pleasing. The divine purposes are harnessed in traces that cannot break and in girths that cannot slip and in buckles that cannot loosen and are driven by reins they must answer. I preach no fatalism. A swarthy engineer at one of the depots in Dakota said: "When will you get on the locomotive and take a ride with us?" "Well," I said, "now, if that suits you." So I got on one side of the locomotive and a Methodist minister, who was also invited, got on the other side, and between us and the engineer was the stoker. The train started. The engineer laid his hand on the agitated pulse of the engine. The stoker shoveled in coal and shut the door with a loud clang. A vast plain slipped under us and the hills swept by, and that great monster on which we rode trembled and bounded and snorted and raged as it hurled us on. I said to the Methodist minister on the other side of the locomotive: "My brother, why should Presbyterians and Methodists quarrel about the decrees and free agency? You see that track, that firm track, that iron track; that is the decree. You see this engineer's arm? That is free agency. How beautifully they work together. They are going to take us through. We could not do without the track and we could not do without the engineer. So I rejoice day by day. Work for us all to do, and we may turn the crank of the Christian machinery this way or that, for we are free agents; but there is the track, laid so long ago no one remembers it; laid by the hand of Almighty God in sockets that no terrestrial or satanic pressure can ever affect. And down that track the car of the world's redemption will roll and roll to the grand central depot of the millenium. I have no anxiety about the track. I am only afraid that for our indolence God will discharge us and put on some other stoker and some other engineer. The train will go through with us or without us. So, my brethren, watch all the events that go by. If things seem to turn out all right give vent to your joy. If they seem to turn out wrong throw out the anchor of faith and hold fast.

When Titans play quoits they pitch mountains; but who owns these gigantic forces you have been reading about the last two months? Whose hand is on the throttle valve of the volcanoes? Whose foot suddenly planted on the footstool makes the continent quiver? God! God! He looketh upon the mountains and they tremble. He toucheth the hills and they smoke. God! God! I must be at peace with him. Through the Lord Jesus Christ this God is mine and He is yours. I put the earthquake that shook Palestine at the crucifixion against all the down-rockings of the centuries. This God on our side we may challenge all the centuries of time and all the cycles of eternity.

Those of us who are in midlife may well thank God that we have seen so many wondrous things; but there are people here to-day who will see the twentieth century. Things obscure to us will be plain to you yet. The twentieth century will be as far ahead of the nineteenth as the nineteenth is ahead of the eignteenth, and as you caricature the habits and customs and ignorance of the past others will caricature this age. Some of you may live to see the shimmering veil between the material and spiritual world lifted. Magnetism, a word with which we cover up our ignorance, will yet be an exposed realm. Electricity, the fiery courser of the sky that Benjamin Franklin lassoed and Morse and Bell and Edison have tried to control, will become completely manageable, and locomotion will be swiftened, and a world of practical knowledge thrown in upon the race. Whether we depart in this century or whether we see the open gates of a more wonderful century—we will see these things! It does not make much difference where we stand, but the higher the standpoint the larger the prospect. We will see them from leaven if we do not see them from earth. I was at Fire island, Long island, and I went up in the cupola from which they telegraph to New York the approach of vessels hours before they come into port.

There is an opening in the wall and the operator puts his telescope through that opening and looks out and sees vessels far out at sea. While I was talking with him he went up and looked out. He said: "We are expecting the Arizona to-night." I said: "Is it possible you know all these vessels? Do you know them as you know a man's face?" He said: "Yes; I never make a mistake; before I see the hulks I often know them by the masts; I know them all, I have watched them so long." Oh, what a grand thing it is to have ships telegraphed and heralded long before they come to port, that friends may come down to the wharf and welcome their long absent loved ones. So to-day we take our stand in the watch tower and we look off or through the glass of inspiration or providence we see a whole fleet of ships coming in. That is the ship of Peace, flag with one star of Bethlehem floating above the top-gallant. That is the ship of the church, mark of salt wave high up on the smoke stack, showing she has had bad weather, but the captain of salvation commands them and all is well with her. The ship of heaven, mightiest craft ever launched, millions of passengers waiting for millions more, prophets and apostles and martyrs in the cabin, conquerors at the foot of the mast, while from the rigging hands are waving this way as if they know us, and we wave back again, for there are ours; they went out from our own households. Ours! Hail! Hail! Put off the black and put on the white. Stop tolling the funeral bell and ring the wedding anthem. Shut up the hearse and take the chariot. Now the ship comes around the great headland. Soon she will strike the wharf and we will go aboard her. Tears for ships going out. Laughter for ships coming in. Now she touches the wharf. Throw out the planks. Block not up that gangway with embracing long-lost friends, for you will have eternity of reunion. Stand back and give way until other millions come on. Farewell to sin. Farewell to struggle. Farewell to sickness. Farewell to death. All aboard for heaven!

—Mr. Frank L. Barrows and daughter, of Milwaukee, spent Sunday in the city visiting Mr. Barrows' parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. J. Barrows, Myers House.

—The republican candidate for mayor —D. P. Smith—is a hustler, and generally succeeds in everything he takes hold of. He will make an excellent mayor.

—Our popular Ex-County Treasurer Willis Miles, has securred the Janesville agency for the Boylston Insurance Co., and proposes to devote his time to insurance business. Mr. Miles is a good man to deal with, and will undoubtedly meet with success in his new venture.

—A heavy team of horses took a lively run down Milwaukee street and up North Main street this morning. They ran into Charles Hodson's heavy mill team and knocked one of them down, laming him slightly. No further damage was done.

—Mrs. J. V. Stevens and children, of Prairie du Sac, this state, are spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wood, on Milton avenue. Mrs. Stevens will spend two or three weeks in the city visiting relatives and friends.

—A goodly number of the members of W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, G. A. R., their families and invited friends assembled at Post hall on Saturday evening and spent a few hours in the social dance, it being the last social of the series for the season. All had a merry time.

—The common council will assemble in regular semi-monthly meeting this evening—provided a quorum of aldermen attends. It is altogether probable that there will be no meeting, but that a minority will be present to adjourn the meeting to some evening later in the week.

—The republicans will elect as school commissioner in the first ward, Mr. J. C. Metcalf, in the third ward, Ogden H. Fethers, Esq., and will not overlook the name of Dr. E. E. Loomis on the city ticket, who will be the next school-commissioner-at-large.

—On to-morrow the republicans will elect W. F. Carle, supervisor in the first ward; Oscar F. Nowlan in the second; Fenner Kimball in the third; and A. H. Sheldon in the fourth. All good and true men, and a delegation in the county board wielding influence.

—Mr. James Cansillon, who has been visiting his parents for the past few weeks, returned to Peoria, Ill., this morning, where he will play ball during the coming season, he being captain of the Peoria nine, a position which he will fill with credit.

—The republicans have selected good representative men for aldermen in all the wards, and the voters should send them to the council by good majorities—Oscar D. Rowe in the first ward; John Thoroughgood in the second; C. S. Jackman in the third, and Adam Sanner in the fourth.

—Mr. Fred. Bogardus, who has been in the employ of G. W. Slawson, of the Park barber shop, has resigned his position with Mr. Slawson and will assume the management of the Helen Bayard Comedy Company. Ed. W. Reed will take the place of Mr. Bogardus in the barber shop.

—The constabulary force of the city for the coming year will consist of John W. Carpenter, of the first ward; A. K. Cutts, of the second; The. L. Acheson, of the third; and John F. Drake, of the fourth ward,—all republicans. Of course the democrats will commission Ed. Smith, of the fifth ward.

—Let us see! On to-morrow the republicans will elect Oscar D. Rowe, John Thoroughgood, C. S. Jackman and Adam Sanner aldermen from the first, second, third and fourth wards respectively, by good majorities. They are willing to concede the election of Ald. J. B. McLean in the fifth. This will make the new council stand seven republicans to three democrats.

—A west side republican estimates Dan P. Smith's majority on to-morrow as follows:—Frst ward 100; Second ward 75, Third ward 100,—275. In the Fourth ward he thinks the chances are about even, yet St. John may carry it by a very small majority. He concedes the regular democratic majority to St. John in the Fifth ward—135. This will insure Smith's election by nearly two hundred votes.

—The following oil paintings by Mrs. Fellows will be offered for sale at the Parmley auction in the town of Center next Wednesday, April 3d. "Morning Scene on the Louisiana River"; "Scene Off the Coast of Labrador;" "Autumn Scene;" "Honey Piece"; "Fort Dumpling, off Newport, a moonlight scene;" also an oil painting by Mrs. Crow, "Leaning Rock". The auction begins at 10 o'clock.

—The funeral of Mrs. Etola Cadwell took place at the Baptist church yesterday afternoon, Rev. Dr. Hodge officiating. A large number of those who had known Mrs. Cadwell in life, gathered to pay their last respects to her in death. At the conclusion of the services the remains were taken to Oak Hill cemetery, and tenderly laid at rest. J. A. Fathers, J. F. Hutchinson, Willard Coleman, Henry Gallup, Rush Saunders and L. M. Nelson acted as pall bearers.

—The Rev. G. H. Filian, a native Armenian pastor, of the Evangelical church in Marsovan, Turkey, occupied the pulpit of the Congregational church yesterday morning, and the Baptist in the evening. Mr. Filian is an interesting speaker and vividly portrays to his audience the habits, manners and every day life of the people in his native land. He is engaged in raising money to carry on the christian work in Turkey and has received very gratifying donations since he has been in Janesville.

—No one can accuse Ald. D. P. Smith of neglect of duty or shirking responsibility while representing the first ward in the common council. His record is an honorable one. It is perfectly safe to predict that his record as mayor, to which position the people will call him on to-morrow, will likewise be straight forward and honorable, and that he will take as deep an interest in affairs of the city as he did in local matters in the first ward. He is a representative man, and will not disappoint the people. Give him a full vote.

—The joint legislative committee on claims has recommended that Bentley & Nowlan, contractors on the south wing of the capitol, at the time of the accident in 1883, be given $26,000, to reimburse them for materials furnished and labor performed in rebuilding the fallen structure. This is in accordance with an agreement arrived at between the attorney general and the contractors, after the recent discision of the supreme court. Mr. O. F. Nowlan, of this city, of the late firm of Bentley & Nowlan, is to be congratulated at his success in recovering his just dues.

—The Janesville democrats will probably have their ticket completed by the time the polls close to-morrow evening. The democrats have a peculiar way in placing candidates in the field, and some times their work is very cleverly performed. First Mr. James F. Hickey declined the nomination for city clerk, and Geo. H. Bates was substituted; this was followed by Hon. Andrew Palmer declining to run as supervisor of the Fourth ward, and Geo. Pickering's name was placed on the ticket; John F. Ehrlinger dropped out in the first ward constable race and Jacob Heller was substituted; then J. H. Burns, the regular candidate for supervisor in the second ward declined the proffered honor, and Robert Horn was substituted. In the substitution of this last name it is feared the democrats have caught a Tartar, so to speak. Mr. Horn has taken a very prominent part in the two last republican caucuses, did some very hard work last spring to secure the election of Ald. Hanthorn, and was on hand at the recent republican caucus 'and a shoutin' for the successful candidate. These are credentials sufficiently strong to make a republican of Mr. Horn. Evidently the Samoa hurricane has struck the Janesville democracy. It will be all the same to-morrow evening, none of their candidates outside the fifth ward will care enough about the election to have it mentioned to them.

HIS FAREWELL.

REV. JOSEPH WAITE PREACHES HIS FAREWELL SERMON.—SYNOPSIS OF THE SERMON.

A large audience assembled yesterday morning to hear Rev. Jos. Waite deliver his farewell address. Mr. Waite very appropriately chose for his theme, "The necessity of heart culture". The culturable nature of man was dwelt upon. That was the one hopeful feature of life. We must look to the heavens and not on earth for our ideals, yet self improvement is never blocked even here. Man's environments sometimes seem to forbid further progress, but yet they never can prevent man's advancement. Man not only may but he must be cultured. Vegetable life, brute life, and human life, if left to itself soon reverts back to its barbarious state. Man is a unity; he is one thing, yet he is cultured in three directions, the hand, the head, and the heart. The culture of one of these stimulates them all yet one may be abnormally developed for a time, and the others dwarfed. The culture of the heart is of the most importance. The head is not everything, knowledge is not power, but merely the instrument of greatness. I do not appeal to you for less head culture. No the last danger which we may fear is that of running too much to brains. But I do appeal for more heart culture. Let the head be influenced by the heart; for out of the culture and the mellowing of the heart comes all true happiness. May such happiness induced by a cultured heart be yours in abundance.

In conclusion Mr. Waite said, "Some of you may expect something more from me at this time, but I trust you will excuse me. Words of farewell do not flow glibly from my tongue. The feelings which we have for each other are too sacred to be publicly paraded. The affection which I may have for you, or you for me, seems to me to be like the relation of husband and wife, too sacred, too much confided in to need any public expression in words.

Mr. Waite now closes one of the most successful pastorates in the history of All Souls church. His congregation has become much attached to both Mr. and Mrs. Waite, but duty seems to call them elsewhere. The universalist church of Troy, New York, where Mr. Waite is to preach, is indeed fortunate in securing so able and eloquent a gentleman as Mr. Waite to fill their pulpit.

It is said that a great many Englishmen are visiting this country this season. I asked Jinks what the came for. He said he supposed to "marry softpated millionaire women, to talk the fellows out of their money, who want to be fooled, and to lay in a supply of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

The greatest cure on earth for pain, Salvation Oil; take up the strain.

ROCK RIVER FISH WAYS.

THE MATTER DISCUSSED THIS MORNING AT THE BUSINESS MEN'S ROOMS.

The bill now pending in the Wisconsin legislature providing for the placing of fish ways in all Rock river dams in Wisconsin having been referred to the Rock county members of the legislature, a meeting was held at ten o'clock this morning in the rooms of the Business Men's Association, that the people of of Janesville interested might be heard. Assemblymen Pratt, Tarrant and Miner were present. There was a liberal attendance of those interested in the propagation of fish as well as those interested in the water power. Several speeches were made, and it was learned that there was little or no objection to the passage of the bill as now amended. However, the members of the legislature deemed it best to hold another meeting before final action is taken, and consequently adjourned the meeting until Thursday at Madison. They hope to see everyone present interested in the bill at that time.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock yesterday morning the thermometer indicated 32 degrees above zero. Cloudy with north wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 39 degrees above zero. Cloudy with north wind. For the corresponding hours last year the register was 32 and 47 degrees above zero. At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 32 degrees above zero. Clear with south wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 49 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with south wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 37 and 57 degrees above zero.

Do you ask for a test of SOZODONT'S powder,
Just talk to a lady for half an hour;
If her breath is sweet, if her teeth are white,
If her gums are clean, if her gums are bright,
If her mouth is pure and her teeth are clean,
She uses the SOZODONT, then, we ween.

THROWN FROM A WAGON.

JOHN NELON SERIOUSLY INJURED ON PLEASANT STREET THIS AFTERNOON.

This afternoon about half-past two o'clock, John Nelon, who resides near Footville, was thrown from his wagon, on Pleasant street near the Leavitt place, and very seriously injured.

Mr. Nelon had started for home and by some means his team became unmanageable and threw him out. Marshal Hogan and Dr. Whiting were at once summoned and removed the injured man to the City Hospital.

The report at four o'clock is that Mr. Nelon has received some severe bruises and is quite severely, but it is thought not fatally injured in the head.

DUCK SHOOTING.

THE ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE ADVERSE TO THE PASSAGE OF THE BILL.

The State Journal: In the assembly this morning the committee on fish and game made an adverse recommendation on the bill, in which local sportsmen are so much interested, to extend the time for shooting wild ducks and wild geese from the first day of December till the following first day of May. It is singular that such a report should have been made, as all the persons who appeared before the committee spoke in favor of the passage of the bill. A strong endeavor will be made to pass the bill, despite the adverse recommendation, and it certainly should prove successful. There is no good reason why, when the sportsmen of states surrounding us are permitted to shoot ducks and geese between December 1 and May 1, we should not be privileged to do so, too. As it is now, we simply breed game for the hunters of those states.

BLUNK DECLINES TO RUN.

HENRY BLUNK WILL NOT STAND AS INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE FOR STREET COMMISSIONER.

Henry Blunk authorizes the Gazette to state that he is not an independent candidate for street commissioner at this election. He thanks his friends for their kind proffers of support, but under the circumstances prefers to wait until some other time. The contest, therefore, for this office will be between the republican and the democratic candidates, John Brown the republican, and W. P. Ryan the democrat, with odds in favor of Brown.

MILLINERY GOODS.

No more beautiful hats and bonnets were brought to the city of Janesville, than can now be found at the millinery rooms of Mrs. Wm. Sadler, No. 22 South Main Street. Flowers of every description, from the saucy open-mouthed poppy to the modest little blue forget-me not, seem to tell us that spring is really here. Pattern hats fresh from Paris and New York show many new designs in trimming. Then, there are the cheaper but stylish hats and bonnets, just the thing for W. C. T. U. women who must economize.

Every woman should at least call and examine her stock before purchasing elsewhere.—Clinton Banner.

In Town and Hamlet.

The seeds of intermittent and bilious remitent fever germinate and bear evil fruit. No community has altogether escaped it. In populous wards of large cities bad sewage causes it, and in their suburbs stagnant pools in sunken lots breed it. There is at once a remedy and a means of prevention. Its name is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is, without peradventure, the most potent antidote in existence to the malarial virus. Fortified with this incomparable, saving specific, miasmatic influences may be encountered with absolute impunity. Disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, begotten by miasma-tainted water, or any other cause, succumb to the beneficent corrective named, and rheumatic, kidney and bladder troubles are surely removable by its use when it is given a persistent trial.

If your cough keeps you awake and restles by night, take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and obtain immediate relief. This remedy allays inflammation, heals the pulmonary organs, induces sleep, and restores health. The sooner you begin the better.

PATRIARCH C. C. CHENEY.

REMEMBERED BY BROTHER ODD FELLOWS ON THE PACIFIC SLOPE.

Patriarch C. C. Cheney, for many years a resident of this city, and a prominent member of the Janesville City Lodge No. 90, is now a resident of Pasadena, California, and continues to take an active interest in the order. Friday, March 22d, was his 89th birthday anniversary, and the event was duly celebrated. The Pasadena Evening Star gives the following account, which will be read with interest by Patriarch Cheney's many friends in this city.

"At 7:30 o'clock last evening a large delegation of Odd Fellows marched up Fair Oaks avenue to the residence of C. C. Cheney, near Mountain avenue, a member of their lodge in this city. It having been learned that it was his 89th birthday, it was resolved to surprise him by a fraternal call. A collection was taken up and a handsome gold-headed cane was purchased and taken along. Brother Cheney is the Patriarch of the lodge and greatly beloved by all. He was born in Vermont in 1800 and has been an Odd Fellow for more than forty years. At one time he was Grand Master for the state of Wisconsin, and in 1854-55 was a representative to the grand lodge of the United States. He is yet vigorous, reads without glasses and never misses a lodge meeting.

The old gentleman was taken completely by surprise when seventeen of his brethren filed into the room, and still more surprised when addressed by H. J. Vail, who presented the handsome cane in a neat little speech. Brother Cheney was visibly affected, but found words to express his gratitude in a very earnest way. It was a very happy occasion, and one that all enjoyed."

"When the spring-time comes," we usually find ourselves drowsy and exhausted, owing to impure and sluggish state of the blood. To remedy this trouble, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the most powerful, yet safe and economical blood-purifier in existence.

POPE LEO'S LETTER.

The Head of the Church Addresses a Message to Cardinal Gibbons.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 1.—The following is the letter of Pope Leo XIII. addressed to His Eminence James, Cardinal Gibbons, in reply to the letter of the archbishop of the United States:

"To Our Beloved Son, James, Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop of Baltimore—BELOVED SON: Health and apostolic benediction. We have read your impressive and powerful letter of the 30th of December, written in your own name and in that of the other archbishops of the United States; it does honor to you, while it affords us no little consolation. For nothing could be more appropriate to the time or more worthy of your exalted office than the public defense of the liberty and rights of the apostolic see and the devoted clergy of Italy against the attacks of those who, holding forcible possession of our city, endeavor by threats of punishment to stifle the very voices of those whose duty it is to proclaim the laws of the church. And because you have made this defense with prudence and vigor both justice and religion owe you a debt of gratitude, and this the more because your defense has the merit of constancy. These striking proofs of your faith and zeal serve to bind our hearts in closer union and inspire us with the pleasing hope that your words will have weight with those even who, though not in communion with us, are at least unbiased witnesses of the injuries inflicted upon us and the church. Moreover, we are consoled not only because your declarations, which are in accord with those of the other dignitaries of the church, may win the zealous support of upright and intelligent men; but we rejoice especially in this—that your prayers, united with those of the rest of the faithful, confirm and increase our confidence in the almighty power and ever-watchful providence of God. Sustained by this hope, and praying that the fullness of heavenly life may descend upon you, beloved son, upon the other archbishops of the United States, and upon the clergy and the faithful intrusted to your and their care, we impart to you and to them, as a pledge of our love, the apostolic benediction."

COURTESY.

Its Importance in Everyday Life—A Notable Example.

An English author writing of the importance of manner in social life, emphasizes the fact that people value more what their friend feels for them than what he does for them. They even look more kindly upon one who meets their request with an affectionate denial than upon one who coldly complies with it.

"An ice-house is very different from a nice house; and a dot will turn a million into one."

Shakspeare mentions the courtesy that "can tickle where she wounds." Not a few public men owe their influence to the fact that they cannot only say no with a good grace, but, what is sometimes harder, say yes with a good grace.

Archdeacon Allen, of the Church of England, was so courteous that he has been known, when accidentally he had hit a dog's nose with a cane, to say, half unconsciously, "I beg your pardon, Hector."

He excelled in the politeness which makes the person to whom it is addressed respect himself. Once he visited, with two young gentlemen, a person who was not, though her position in life should have made her, a lady.

"Did you notice," said one of the gentlemen to the other, on leaving the house, "the archdeacon's refinement in pretending not to see how vulgar that old woman was?" He recognized her as a woman, and was anxious to make her respect herself as such.

In visiting the cottages of the poor, his manner was as respectful as when calling at the mansions of the rich. He would take off his hat before crossing the threshold. When the inmate came to the door at his knock, he would ask, "May I come in?"

If he happened to call while a cottager's family was at dinner or supper, he never went in, but excused himself, saying:

"I see you are at tea, I'll call another time; I hope you are all well."

His children were trained to consider rudeness to a servant as a grave offence. If they wished a servant to perform some duty they asked for it as a favor and prefixed the request with "please," and annexed "thank you" to its performance.

A lady once said that living with her father was like being brought up in a church. Archdeacon Allen's children understood the meaning of the expression, for their father's reverence for every one was awe-inspiring.

AN UNJUST SUSPICION.

Excited by a Visit of the Bank Cashier to His President.

The president of the Swamptown bank was sitting in his library at home the other evening, when a servant announced that his cashier was in the parlor and desired to see him. The president started, turned a little pale and muttered: "It has come at last! A confession, undoubtedly. Why did I not have that man watched? Wonder he didn't skip to Canada at once." Then he descended to the parlor where the following conversation took place:

Cashier (advancing hesitatingly and speaking in an embarrassed way)—"I hope you will forgive me, Mr. Goldbags, but—"

President Goldbags (sternly)—"Forgive you, sir! There is and should be no forgiveness for an offense like yours. Too much leniency is the reason why these crimes are increasing in number."

"Crimes, sir?"

"Yes, crimes. I call things by their proper names."

"But you will pardon me—"

"Pardon you? No, indeed, I won't. Besides that, only the Governor of the State has the power to pardon."

"I must confess, sir—"

"Well, go on and confess, then. That is about all there is left to do, I suppose," bitterly, "but I have suspected you for some time, and I have been a fool not to have investigated you before."

"Is it, then, so great an offense. Are not most young men impelled that way? Did you not yourself—"

"Silence, sir! How dare you insinuate, miserable man, that ever I was guilty of betraying the confidence—"

"Betray confidence? I love her and she loves me. I wish to marry her, and so—"

"Love her? Marry her? Who are you talking about?"

"Why, your daughter, of course. You said you had long suspected it, and I thought you knew, but it is no crime, sir, indeed it is not."

"Then you are not a defaulter?"

"No!"

"And you do not contemplate skipping to Canada with the funds of the bank?"

"Never thought of such a thing."

"No confession to make, eh?"

"Only a confession of love, Mr. Goldbags, that's all. I ask the hand of your daughter."

"Well, she is yours. You take a great load off my mind."

"In taking your daughter."

"No, hang it, in removing my suspicions, But I say, son-in-law, don't take in Canada on your wedding trip. The very name makes me shudder."

The young man promised, and they parted with lightened hearts.

The Cowboy's Ticket.

They were telling experiences the other night, and Col. Granniss told one of his. He made the trip through the Southern country here just after the road had been opened. The festive cowboy had just begun to enjoy the sport of running the train in the rough region, and at one of the stations a formidable specimen of that tough human boarded the cars. The conductor came along punching the tickets, and this cowboy did not pay any attention to him. At last the conductor laid his hand on his shoulder and said: "Ticket, please." The cowboy turned in true cowboy style, pulled out his revolver and pointed it at the conductor.

"Here's my ticket."

The conductor walked on and punched everybody else's coupon. Then he disappeared. The little incident had been forgotten by almost everybody on the car. The cowboy was in a quiescent state and the car was quite still when the conductor came in. He walked leisurely along the aisle and suddenly stopped before the cowboy, placed a great big knife dangerously contiguous to his vital part, and said, quietly:

"Lemme see that ticket again?"

The cowboy paid his fare.

Bogus Diamonds.

Of late years jewelry, and female jewelry in particular, as it were, has become very numerous and ostentatious, so to speak. Formerly the possession of a pair of diamond earrings enveloped the happy female in a halo of affluence that caused her to be looked upon as a modified female Count De Monte Cristo.

The shabbily dressed, poorly paid shop girl wears jewels that flash in a dozen different colors, while the boy who gets four dollars a week in a button factory, carries on his soiled hand a diamond ring that might be a prince's ransom in olden times —if it were real.

Yet jewelry, which was formerly supposed to be expensive, is now worn so generally as to create a suspicion that the coal deposits are being subjected to an alarming drain.

Not everybody knows that it takes an experienced jeweler to detect the real from the bogus diamond, hence it frequently happens that grown-up persons undergo a similar experience to that of the little girl who complained to her grandmother:

"Ma told me it was a diamond, but I have found out that it was only a grindstone."

Misplaced Advice.

"In my opinion," said Rev. Mr. Sincrusher, to a pretty, though pious young woman of his flock, "the waltz is very, very wicked, indeed."

"So I have always thought," she replied, "and have never indulged in it."

"Yes, yes," he continued, "the waltz whirls its gay kaleidoscope around, bringing the hearts so near that they almost beat against each other, mixing the warm breath together, darting the fire of electricity between the meeting fingers, flushing the face and lightening the eyes with a quick language, pulsing every fibre—"

"Jerushy! Mr. Sincrusher," she exclaimed, jumping up, "is it anything like that?"

"More," he said, solemnly, "much more."

"Well, that's enough; I guess I'll go and learn; I never knew before what I was missing."

At the Grand Central Depot.

Cowboy (to policeman)—Is the strike going on yet?

Policeman—Strike's over long ago.

Cowboy—It is, eh. No more throwing brick or shootin' pistols?

Policeman—No.

Cowboy (with a sigh of relief)—Then I guess I'll take in the town. I'm the Cavortin' Cataclasm of the Calaveras Canyon, and I pull out men from between my teeth when I eat. Just my luck to get here after it is all over.

A Cordial Welcome.

STRIKE AT ST. LOUIS.

The Union Carpenters of That City Decide to Go Out.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 1.—Over one thousand union carpenters met at Central Turner Hall Sunday night and determined on a general strike Monday morning at 9 o'clock. There are over seventeen hundred union carpenters in the city. They demand that the bosses recognize the unions, allow eight hours for a day's work and pay 40 cents an hour. There are 350 bosses in the city. Nearly 300 of them decline to concede the union's demands. W. H. Kliver of Chicago, vice-president of the United Workmen of the United States, is here managing the affair for the union. The indications favor a stubborn contest.
